

THE BIG SCREEN

After speaking to our strong team of European consultants about fishing on the Continent, it quickly became apparent that lots of European anglers, and anglers from the UK visiting the Continent, were using gazebo-style shelters to cook and socialise in on long sessions. Knowing that most anglers were purchasing gazebos that were made for the camping market, in a whole host of bright colours, we decided to design a shelter specifically with carp anglers in mind. The new Screen House is easy to erect, boasts a full mozzie mesh and has full-length zips on all four sides.

We're certain the Screen House is going to find favour with anglers who fish on the Continent, or carp anglers in the UK who want somewhere to cook and socialise with friends on longer sessions.
